

UNDERSTANDING

ACADEMIC ALERTS

What do they really mean?

UNSATISFACTORY
ATTENDANCE

Your instructor has indicated that you have not been attending class. Reach out to your instructor to find out further information either in class or during their office hours. Be sure to make note of any attendance policies listed in your course syllabus.

Tip: Class attendance impacts your overall grade!

Tip: The Academic Success Center offers free tutoring!

UNSATISFACTORY GRADES

Your instructor has indicated that you have unsatisfactory grade(s) in the course. Reach out to your instructor to find out further information either in class or during their office hours. Be sure to review the grading rubric found on your course syllabus.

UNSATISFACTORY MISSED
ASSESSMENT

Your instructor has indicated that you have missed an assignment or exam. Reach out to your instructor to find out further information either in class or during their office hours. Be sure to make note of any and all due dates for assignments and exams as listed in your course syllabus.

Tip: Use a planner to keep organized!

Tip: Active participation in class helps you better understand course content!

UNSATISFACTORY
PARTICIPATION

Your instructor has indicated that you have not been participating in class. Reach out to your instructor to find out further information either in class or during their office hours. Participation is often tied to a student's overall grade. Be sure to check your course syllabus for this information...

UNSATISFACTORY
COMBINATION OF ISSUES

Your instructor has indicated a combination of issues impacting your success in class. Reach out to your instructor to find out further information either in class or during their office hours. Follow up with your academic advisor to identify campus resources to help you get back on track.

Tip: There are numerous resources on campus to help you succeed!

SCHEDULE AN APPOINTMENT WITH YOUR ACADEMIC ADVISOR TODAY!