What do Construction Managers do?

- Prepare and negotiate cost estimates, budgets, scheduling
- Select appropriate construction methods, workers, and subcontractors
- Interpret and explain contracts and technical information to construction teams
- Collaborate with architects, engineers and other construction specialists
- Ensure compliance with governing building and safety codes

What makes a good Construction Manager?

- Strong background in both math/science and business/management
- Good communication, interpersonal and leadership skills
- Confident, focused decision making
- Enjoys application of skills to practical problems

You could conduct research with faculty in the Department of Civil Engineering & Construction!

- Project Administration and Scheduling
- Cost Estimation
- Sustainable Construction Practices
- Remote Sensing
- Surveying/Geomatics